The All Time Masters of Symphonic Rock

THE ORCHESTRA

Starring Former Members
ELECTRIC LIGHT ORCHESTRA

Not all rock was created equal and THE ORCHESTRA Starring Former Members ELECTRIC LIGHT ORCHESTRA is living proof.

With a pedigree reaching into the 70's and 80's, THE ORCHESTRA Starring Former Members ELO has launched their 2020 TOUR, heralding a continuing era of unparalleled symphonic rock.

ALL six members of THE ORCHESTRA were formerly ELO Part II with two, of the six, members Mik Kaminski (the famous “Blue Violin”) and original arranger, conductor and keyboardist Louis Clark, dating back to the Electric Light Orchestra between years 1973 through the conclusion in 1986. The former members of ELO and ELO Part II have toured domestically and internationally since 2001 as THE ORCHESTRA Starring Former Members ELECTRIC LIGHT ORCHESTRA. By 2003, they started to become known as the “all time masters of symphonic rock” with their continuing use of strings, synthesizers and exquisitely layered vocals. For many people the “ELO sound” is as close as Rock Music Fans will ever get to modern day classical music.

ELO hits from the band’s first recordings through their last, in 1986, are the cornerstone of THE ORCHESTRA Starring Former Members ELO’s repertoire, including Strange Magic, Do Ya, Don’t Bring Me Down, Evil Woman, Livin’ Thing, Turn to Stone, Sweet Talkin’ Woman, Telephone Line, Ma-Ma-Ma Belle, Mr. Blue Sky and Roll Over Beethoven.

Call that sound “the ELO phenomenon” because fans all over the world say I “Can’t Get It Out of My Head!”
